Washington State Death with Dignity (DWD) Act

Pursuant to the DWD Act, RCW 70.245.190, individual providers, staff, and facilities may choose whether or not to participate in the DWD Act. "Participate" means to perform the duties of the attending (prescribing) qualified medical provider, the consulting qualified medical provider, or to take part in other activities as described below.

All hospice agencies provide symptom management and after-death support.

The items below describe the above-listed hospice agency's provision of specific DWD Act-related support.

Medical Provider Participation in DWD Act

- For any given patient, Hospice medical providers may participate as both Attending (prescribing) and Consulting providers.
- For any given patient, Hospice medical providers may participate as either Attending (prescribing) or Consulting provider, but not both.
- Hospice medical providers may participate as Consulting providers only.
- Hospice medical providers do not participate as either Attending (prescribing) or Consulting providers.

Hospice Staff/Volunteer Presence During Ingestion

- Hospice staff/volunteers may be present in the patient room at the time of ingestion.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may not be present in the patient room at the time of ingestion but may be present in the patient residence at time of ingestion.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may not be present in the patient residence at the time of ingestion.

Hospice Staff/Volunteer Presence Following Ingestion

- As above, Hospice staff/volunteers may be present during ingestion, and may also be present following ingestion.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may be present only after ingestion.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may be present only after the patient has died.

Hospice Staff/Volunteer Medication Transport

- Hospice staff/volunteers may transport DWD Act medications from the pharmacy to the patient's residence.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may not transport DWD Act medications from the pharmacy to the patient's residence.

Hospice Staff/Volunteer Witnessing of Written Request

- Hospice staff/volunteers may witness a patient's written request for medication that the patient may self-administer to end their life.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may not witness a patient's written request for medication that the patient may self-administer to end their life.

Hospice Staff/Volunteer Medication Preparation

- Hospice staff/volunteers may assist with medication preparation for a patient to self-administer.
- Hospice staff/volunteers may not assist with medication preparation.

Hospice Staff Placement of Rectal Catheter for Purpose of Administration of DWD Medications

- If necessary, Hospice staff may place a rectal catheter for the purpose of self-administration of DWD medications.
- Hospice staff may not place a rectal catheter for the purpose of self-administration of DWD medications.

Comments; limitations on services; other services continued:

Current WhidbeyHealth policy does not allow staff to transport medications. WhidbeyHealth Hospice has identified local pharmacies that will mail the prescribed life-ending medications to patients upon request.
