

Washington State Board of Health December 2016

The Washington State Board of Health is established in the State Constitution and serves our state by working to understand and prevent disease across the entire population. The Board provides leadership through rulemaking and policy development, and by offering a public forum that enables citizens to help shape state health policy.

Services

Develop statewide policy recommendations and explore ways to improve the public's health. In 2016, the Board issued its 2016 State Health Report. This report outlines highlights strategic directions that deserve the attention of the Governor, Legislature and senior management across state agencies. The 2016 report includes recommendations that: support state funding for Foundational Public Health Services; promote health equity in Washington state; and advance school health.

Engage the public through public meetings, and outreach to local boards of health and advisory groups. The Board holds public forums and briefings on newborn screening, youth tobacco use, and the health status of Washington residents.

Staff and support the Governor's Interagency Council on Health Disparities. The Council is charged with creating recommendations for eliminating health disparities by race, ethnicity and gender. The Council's June 2016 report includes a recommendation for the Governor to create policy to promote equity in state government. The Council's current focus is on assisting state agencies to intentionally consider equity impacts of program, policy, and budget decisions.

Conduct health impact reviews, upon the request of legislators or the Governor. A health impact review provides an objective analysis of how a proposed legislative or budgetary change may impact health and health disparities in Washington.
