

COVID-19 Vaccination Program Provider Preparation Checklist

ш	nev	the Freparing to Enroll in the COVID-13 vaccination Frogram guide (FDF) to understand the	participation requirements and enrollment process.
	Rev	iew or develop operational plans for vaccinating staff and patients. Plans should include step	os to ensure safety, reduce crowding, and follow physical distancing recommendations.
		Review guidance for planning vaccination clinics and pandemic influenza:
		 CDC, Guidance for Planning Vaccination Clinics Held at Satellite, Temporary, or Off-Site Locations
		 CDC, Vaccination Guidance During a Pandemic
		 CDC, Pandemic Influenza Vaccine Targeting Checklist (PDF)
		 National Adult and Influenza Immunization Summit, Checklist of Best Practices for
		Vaccination Clinics Held at Satellite, Temporary, or Off-Site Locations (PDF)
		 Immunization Action Council, Resources for Developing Mass Vaccination Clinics
		Review the CDC operational playbook (PDF) and Washington state's COVID-19 Interim Vaccination Plan .
		Assess staffing capacity for planning clinics and process for training staff involved (Just in Time Training - JITT).
		Work with occupational health partners to determine their capacity for vaccination clinics and potential barriers to their participation.
		Consider whether you could help to vaccinate other individuals from outside your organization and notify your local health jurisdiction or emergency readiness partner.
		ntify refrigerators and freezers to store vaccine. Assess capacity and process for storing and mor	nitoring vaccine, including continuous vaccine temperature monitoring:
		Refrigerators
		Freezers
		Ultra-cold (-80° C)
		It is not recommended to purchase ultra-cold storage units if you do not already have this capacity.
		Continuous temperature monitoring ess process for monitoring and tracking staff and patients receiving vaccine, and process for inding staff or patient about their second dose.
	Test	t vaccination plans through tabletop exercises or seasonal influenza vaccination clinics.
